SONOMA TEACHERS GET RAISE.

Grammar School Trustees Follow High School's Increase To Efficient Force.

Sonoma in line with other communities throughout the county has granted an increase of salary to its teachers. The Grammar School Board met last Sunday morning and decided to increase the salaries of Prof. Prestwood and his assistants 18 per cent in order that our educators may keep pace with the high cost of living.

Miss Nettie Mc Conoche, formerly principal of the El Verano school, was engaged as a fifth teacher, necessary to take care of the daily attendance which is steadily advancing beyond the 200 mark.

The High School Board some weeks ago raised the salaries of its faculty.

MRS. BUCHAN'S GRANDSON HAS OPERATION

Mrs. Kate Buchan took her little grandson, Robley Harbort, to San Francisco Saturday where he was operated upon at the Children's Hospital by Dr. Baldwin. The patient is doing nicely and the doctor who has lately returned from France where he performed wonderful operations, is very hopeful that Robley's lameness can be entirely cured.

Mrs. Buchan telegraphed Mrs. Harbort who resides in Florida, that the operation had been a success and that her little son was resting as comfortable as could be excepted

MURRAY SWEARS TO WARRANT

Jack Murray swore to a warrant Wednesday, charging that George and Emma Fetters sold liquor without a license, thus violating a county ordinance. The case grew out of a check transaction in which a Napa cattle buyer, M. C. Dillon figured and when his checks came back marked "refered to maker," the cattle buyer so Murray avers, said he spent all his cash at Fetters on champagne. Dillon's name is not mentioned in the complaint. Fetters license was revoked last year by the Supervisors.

PERCY CARMER WEDS A BENICIA GIRL

Percy Carmer, grandson of an old resident, C. F. Carmer of El Verano and son of Mrs. Sophia Carmer of this place was married to Miss Fox of Benicia last Saturday.

SALOONS RENEWED THEIR LICENSES.

All of Sonoma's saloons except one renewed their licenses for the new quarter and paid their money into the City treasury, despite the fact that they probably will only be able to keep open until June 30th.

Herman Laux for many years in business here closed his doors. His sight has been failing for some time past and he had planned to retire some months ago.

A request by the Woman's Club to know from the League of Municipalities paper what towns like Sonoma were doing to meet the deficit to be caused by no saloon license money, was answered by Mason&Locke of San Francisco who stated that all others businesses were being taxed and the assessed value of property raised.

With many stores in substantial stone and brick buildings already vacant and more to become so after the bone dry wave, the Sonoma trustees cannot see how values can be raised on this class of property.

NIECE SEEKS LETTERS IN LONERGAN ESTATE

Mrs. Elizabeth Elder, niece of the late Michael Lonergan, pioneer horse man of Sonoma, who died recently, has filed legal objections to the appointment of Dr. Frank H. Phillips as public administrator, to administrate the estate of her uncle. alleging that there is no urgent necessity for immediate action as the estate does not include any perishable property. She is represented by Attorney H. P. Johnson and declares that she has arranged for the care of two horses left by decedent, who is her paternal uncle, her father having been the late John Lonergan. Mrs. Elder was named for administratrix by her brothers and sisters and it is also alleged that the surviving brother, Thomas Lonergan, is not a bona fide resident of California.

Lonergan was a veteran of the halcyon days of racing in California and was a bachelor. His estate consists of $2000 of real and personal property valued at about $500, including two horses, "Telltale," and "Belle," each estimated as worth $100. Petition asks revocation of special letters.

C. Bergstrom of the Sonoma Valley Lumber Co., who has been serving the U. S. A. over in France, is being warmly welcomed home by his many friends.

STUDENTS SCORE HIT IN DRAMA

Esmeralda Played To Capacity House and Was a Fine Production.

Standing room only was the sign out in Union Hall Wednesday evening when the Seniors of the High School presented a clever cast in that excellent comedy-drama, "Esmeralda." It was a representative and appreciative audience and demonstrted the newer and bigger interest being taken in the students of the school and their work. Six hundred witnessed the play.

The four act drama held the interest of those who witnessed it from the time the certain went up on the realistic cabin scene in North Carolina until the happy finale in the studio in Paris.

The title role of Esmeralda, was played with wistful sweetness and charm by Miss Portia Harrison. Elbert Rogers as portrayed by Meryl Bish, was a masterpiece. Miss Zolita Bates looked stunning in the part of Mrs. Rogers, the ambitious, domineering wife. Frank Cromwall interpreted the difficult role of Dave Hardy with nice appreciation. Steve Duhring was a most acceptable Estabrook. Donald Cameron made a clean cut portraiture of Jack Desmond. Misses Ranker and Wickham were delightful in their parts of young artists. Abe Manuck acted the villian to perfection and Miss Christine Smith was entirely satisfactory as Sophie.

The setting of the play won the highest commendation. The interior of the log cabin with its Navajo rugs, mounted animal heads and antlers, was productive of the most realistic "atmosphere" and the studio scene in act 2 was highly artistic.

The student cast interpreted the play throughout with keen appreciation and when one considers their age, the memorization of the lengthy lines and acting, "Esmeralda" was nothing short of a taiumph in High School dramatics and great credit is due Miss Ward for her splendid work in coaching the production. Mrs. H. J. Wicker and others are also to be highly complimented for staging the play so creditably.

Music by the girls glee club was given between the acts of the play and some of the new offerings were most melodious. Miss Poppe accompanied with inspiring zest.

Attorney W. F. Cowan has filed a petition for letters in estate of the latte Nicholas Gallard on behalf of Mrs Catherine Gallard, the widow, who resides at Kenwood. The estate is worth $500 and the heirs include the widow and daughter, Mrs. Marie Estrate of San Francisco.

N. S. G. W. HONORS SOLDIER BOYS

Flag Day Reception to Young Patriots Was Fine Affair.

Last Saturday night the Flag Day reception to our returned heroes given by Sonoma Parlor of Native Sons was a brilliant affair in Union Hall. The Native Sons royally welcomed the boys and their families.

The service flag of the Parlor of 19 stars and the community service flag of 170 stars, were fitting back grounds for the speakers and others on the program. The Bear Flag and Old Glory were also in evidence, significant emblems, particularly in Sonoma where seventy three years ago to the day, California history began.

F. T. Duhring made a splendid address, interweaving history past and present and dwelling upon the sacrifice and service of Sonoma's sons in the war.

J. F. Prestwood welcomed the returned heroes in the name of the Parlor and announced the solos of Messrs. H. Weber, Fred. Helberg and A. Jensen. Weber sang "Mama O' Mine," Mr. Helberg, "The Sunshine of Her Smile" and Al Jansen the fine war song, "Khaki Lad."

Dancing to the augmented Nick's Jazz band of St. Helena and delicious refreshments served to all throughout the evening were enjoyed by the big crowd present, all voting the Native Sons capital hosts.

SONOMA GRAPE GROWERS WILL TRY DRYING PROCESS.

Acting upon the advice of the State Horticultural Commission, Sonoma valley grape growers are arranging to install dryers to salvage machinery for their new dryer and their grape crops. Grapes cannot be sun dried in this section and evaporators are necessary.

The Gundlach-Bundschu Company have already received $1500 worth of machinery for their new dryers and it is rumored that the Goldstein vineyard of the Agua Caliente district is also figuring on salvaging their crop in this way and will install a dryer.

These dried grapes can then be be shipped to territory where wine making is no crime.

Mrs. W. H. Hanger and the Hunter children are enjoying a visit in S. F.

Donahue, the well known prize fighter, known to many followers of the ring, is at Gatchells, Boyes Springs Sanitarium and is much benefited by the treatments for rheumatism from which he has been a sufferer.

Diplomas were confered upon the 14 graduates of the Sonoma Valley Union High School Thursday night and the class of 1919 is conceded to be one of the finest in the history of the school.

After a prayer by Rev. Isaac Cookman, Professor L. H. Golton presented the salutatarian of the class, Miss Louise Anderson, who attained the second highest record in her class and scored in her excellent address. Miss Anderson pointed out the two fold significance, social and economic of the High School in the community and brought out what a factor for good it was and could be. She paid high tribute to the faculty.

After music by the Glee Club, Mr. Golton introduced Donald Cameron, who won the honor of valedictorian of the class. "Vocational Guidance and the Need for It," was his theme. His subject was handled logically and clearly and h defined Vocational Guidance as "the guidance of young people in the choosing, preparing for and entering upon the kinds of business, occupations, professions or careers for which they are specially fitted by their natural talents and aptitudes--a knowledge of the opportunities for growth and advancement which they afford and a knowledge of the moral and ethical demands which these occupations make upon those who follow them."

After more musical numbers, Professor Leebrick of the chair of modern history, U. C., gave a splendid address on the modern trend and ideals which must triumph over ultra nationalism.

Professor Golton complimented the class of 1919 highly and spoke feelingly of the cooperation its members had given the faculty.

Diplomas were then confered by R. P. Hill and benediction pronounced by Rev. Father Byrne.

Flowers and gifts were showered upon the graduates by their many friends present.

Tonight the class will be the center of attraction at the alumni banquet where covers will be laid for 100 guests.

Mrs. Henrietta Meller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chauvet, will leave with her two children for New York the coming week and will make her home there. Mr. Meller has been on the Atlantic Coast for several months and is doing so well that he decided to have his family come East.

Ruination Confronts Grape Growers

THAT RUINATION STARES in the face the grape growers of this section and others of the coast county grape areas with the coming of prohibition is being acknowledged now even by those who sought a way out for the growers, andwere hopeful that there might be something in the suggestions so freely handed out by the zealous advocates of a dry nation, suggestions since proven to be mere sop. After exhaustive inquiry into possible uses for wine grape vineyards, the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners report of May 20th makes this statement:

"In the dry-wine regions of the coast counties the possibilities of salvage are less than in the interior. Changing the varieties by grafting is almost certainly useless, both because of the difficulty of grafting on resistant vines, and because of the improbability of growing raisin or table grapes profitably except in rare cases. If the drying of wine grapes for wine-making purposes should be possible, the coast county grapes dried in evaporators will undoubtedly be superior.

If grape juice of fine quality can be marketed profitably, it is the best grapes of the coast counties that must furnish the raw material.

For the cheaper canned Muscat juice, it is probable that the color and acidity of the coast grapes may be useful in giving variety and freshness and thus utilize a small portion of the crop.

It seems inevitable, however, that most of the wine grapes of this region will have to be abandoned or removed. The case is more serious here than in the interior, as much of the land is unsuited to any other crop, or much less profitable.

A careful survey of a typical area has been made by C. F. Shaw of the College of Agriculture. This area includes 21,365 acres of grapes in the Healdsburg district of Sonoma County and includes all the vineyards from Sebastopol and Santa Rosa north to the Mendocino line. According to this survey, 45 per cent of the vineyards are on soil well suited to other fruits. The loss in these would be confined to the cost of changing the crop and the loss of crop during the process. Of 27 per cent of the vineyards, the soil can be used for other fruit, but with less profit than with grapes. Here the loss would be greater. In the remaining 28 per cent, the soil, after the vines are removed, is only adapted for pasture. Here the loss would be almost total."

A SUNDAY NEWSPAPER says that capital is responsible for the prohibition movement and that nicotine must go next as big business sees in liquor and tobacco inefficiency which must be driven from industry. So that is it, is it? We are all to made fool proof machines that we may pour more wealth into the laps of money kings. The nigger in the wood pile emergeth.

BOOST FOR A BETTER SONOMA HIGH SCHOOL

Next term there will be a great many changes in the little school down on Broadway. Chiefly thru the efforts of Mr. Golton, a great many things of great benefit to the school will be accomplished. A brief summary of a few of the projects to be undertaken are as follows:

1. Purchase of 4½ acres for Athletic field.
2. New building (44 x 64) for shop work.
3. Introduction of Smith-Hughes Agricultural Project.
4. Smith-Hughes Household Science Course.
5. Vocational Guidance for entering students.
6. New subjects and better arranged courses of study.
7. More facilities for athletics.
8. An Orchestra or Band.
9. Building up and stabilizing the Organizations of the school.
10. Making the High School the center of social life and of all that is best in the community.

The purchase of 4½ acres of land for the training of our athletic is a thing, the value of which cannot be overestimated. An excellent track can be made, and our team need no longer run thru the streets to train for a meet. A club house with showers and lockers for the students will be built on the field.

The new building is a small one, to take the place of the Manual Training building and will be used for: drafting metal work, wood work, and finishing room.

Former State Senator J. Struckenbruck of Accampo, San Joaquin county, who represented that county in the State legislature for many years, was a visitor in this city Monday. He came to Glen Ellen on Sunday night for the purppose of seeing R. Q. Wickham's Duroc Jersey pigs, his intention being to get some of the latter breed for his ranch near Lodi

Mrs. E. DePlace has been visiting her daughters in San Francisco.

EPIC OF THE PASSING OF THE GRAPE

This story written by Jack Jungmeyer of the Los Angeles Record staff, will be filed in the annals of the American newspaper literature as one of the unforgettable classics of the passing of the grape.. Read it. It is from the pen of the Richard Harding Davis of today It is tinged by no partisanship, one way or another, on the prohibition question. You will want to preserve it as a specimen of classic English.

By JACK JUNGMEYER, in Los Angeles Record.

I have followed the blaze marks of prohibition into the heart of California's wine country to see how the dry decree will affect the folks in the Champagne of America.

It lies at the end of the old King's Highway, the famous valley of the sun where the Padres taught the fear of God and the love of one's neighbor, which the pioneers saw as the promised land, and which today is one vast field of purple, ruby and amber grapes.

Swiss, French and Italians came in; cheery, industrious, hospitable folk; becoming good Americans. They planted vines in the golden soil. Other Americans, more austere, settled beside them, mellowing under their influence —Argonauts, sodbreakers, dreamers and doers.

The bare hills blossomed under their husbandry. Their shacks became rose-embowered homes. Little vineyards grew big, extending up and down the Sonoma and Napa branches of the valley of the sun. Schools and churches sprang up besides the vines—towns and cities. There was marriage and giving in marriage. And children chaised butterflies among the grapes.

Nation Brings Science to Aid.--- There were lean seasons and fat. Pests ravaged the fields. The science of a nation and the state was directed to the aid of these diligent, patient families..

The valley ofthe sun, which lies close to the "Valley of the Moon," became such a place of laughter, prosperity and promise as few lands if any under the sun can boast.

It is pleasant to travel through these rich fields along the Kings highway And one of its most alluring byways runs to the home of Carl Dresel, pioneer vineyardist of Sonoma.

He stood at his gate as I drove up —a tall, straight man of 70, white haired, father of a family of six—surveying his 150 acre ranch.

Fifty years ago Dresel arrived with his father from Texas. He became a good careful farmer. He rooted his life in the soil with his grapes. Here he married. From here he sent his children to school—and three sons to the war when his country called. His vintages have long been the delight of connoisseurs. He has spent $1,250,000 in the community, money he made on his ranch.

Lives Rooted in Fields and Hallowed.

—Dresel stands often at his gate these days looging across the fields that testify to his industry and that have fulfilled modest desires.

Soon we will see them no more, these acres hallowed with the associations of life time, for, like most of his neighbors, his life will be uprooted and transplanted with the passing of the vine.

"If it is the will of the people," he said, "I bow my head and accept what is to be. The will of the people—that is always first and above everything.

"But it is no light thing for me and my neighbors," glancing up and down the valley. "Like most of the others, I will have to dispose of my land for a pittance and move—I don't know where.

"Most of this soil is good for nothing but wine grapes. And even where orchards would grow, few of the ranchers have the money to tide them over the five or six year period prior to bearing.

"You are a young man," he said, gravely. "Maybe you do not real-ize what it means for an old man and his family to leave in its ripeness what our lives have ripened—to pull up stakes from the soil that has nourished and blest me and mine. Only love of country can compare to the attachment for one's fields—and this is the very core of love of country."

Dresel's ranch is valued at $24,000 He has cooperage worth $45,000. Encroachment of prohibition in the past few years has already cut down his former production of 175,000 gallons of wine annually to 40,000. He says he will be lucky if he can sell out for $5500.

"Old Vines Like Members of My Family."—"But the money," he said-that the least of it. Down in my fields you'll see gnarled old vines that have grown up with us—some I planted when I married, some when my children were born, some when they—why, my boy, these vines are like members of my family."

He came to the gate again with a tray of glasses filled with a shimmer of gold. Gravely he handed them 'round to visitors who had driven up.

"Well, here's happiness, Mr. Dresel," said one with a blundering toast.

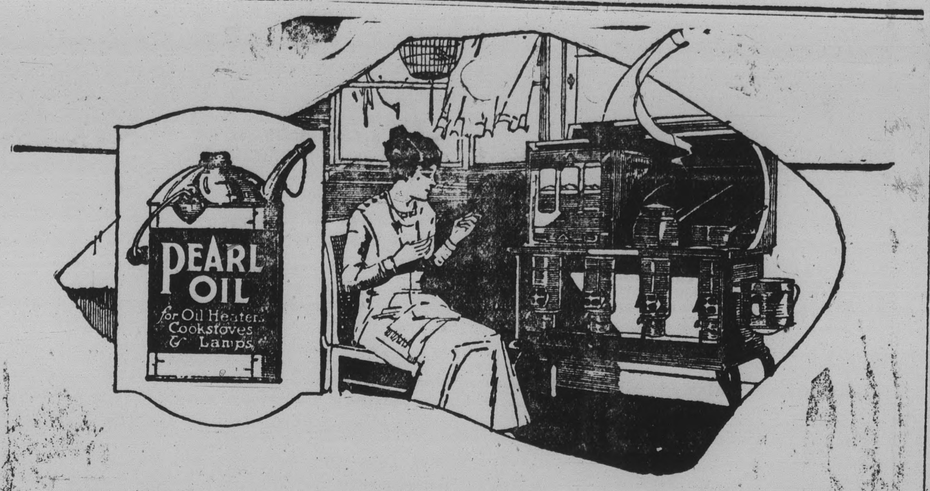

The old man sipped slowly. If he he had winced, there was no sign. One of his soldier sons came out and put his arm around his shoulders.. His wife joined him.

As I drove away down the valley of the sun, between the vineyards where larks sang and bees droned, I glanced back. The old man was still at the gate, looking out across his fields.

OF INTEREST TO OUR CATTLEMEN

The Cattle Protection Board will inaugurate cattle protection at shipping points and slaughter houses in Sonoma county on June 5, 1919. Inspectors to represent the Board and to have general charge of the inspection of cattle have been appointed as follows: James S. Wild of Santa Rosa, Rt. 5, Box 273, will have charge of all inspections of hides and brands in Sonoma County with the exception of Cloverdale which will be taken care of by B. A. Dunn of Cloverdale.

Cattle will not be accepted for shipment at any shipping points by and common carrier unless a certificate of inspection is filed with the agent thereof at time of shipment. All cattle to be slaughtered must also be inspected at the slaughter house for marks and brands before same can be slaughtered.

No person can engage in the slaughtering of cattle before obtaining a license from the state and filing a bond in compliance with the new law. Failure to do so renders the person doing so liable to fine and imprisonment and closes his slaughter house for one year.

Bills of sale must be obtained when cattle are purchased and must be shown to the inspector. All cattlemen who intend to ship cattle and all slaughterers intending to slaughter cattle purchased by them must inform the inspector at least 24 hours before shipment or before cattle are slaughtered by notifying the inspector nearest his shipping corrals or slaughter pens.

This is in compliance with the law recently passed by the legislature and has for its purpose the protection of cattle owners from loss of cattle through theft.

MINISTER MAKES WINNING FIGHT FOR GRAPE GROWERS

A resolution in protest to the repeal of the war-time prohibition as proposed by President Wilson, which was prepared and offered in the all-day meeting of Sonoma county ministers held in the Baptist Church recently, was withdrawn after it had met with vigorous opposition from the Rev. Wm. S. Short, rector of the Episcopal church of the Incarnation.

The sentiment expressed by the Rev. Short was to the effect that the grape growers were entitled to consideration this year owing to the fact that the crop was now well advanced and that as the measure originally was intended simply as a food conservation measure and never for prohibition cause, it was only fair and just that the measure should be repealed so as to allow all grape growers to get the benefit of this year's crop, thus, in many cases, preventing absolute financial ruin.

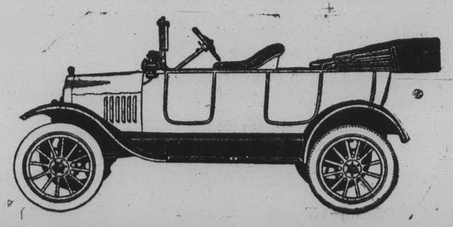

The appeal was heard with much attention and the ministers after seeing the justice of the matter, decided it wiser not to take any action at this time. The decision will be received with pleasure by the grape growers of the county.

Mr. Theo. Raven of the Fly district near Napa has recently finished his contract for plowing and discing the Hyde vineyards and orchard of 165 acres. On account of the vines being only 8 feet apart it required a tractor with short turning radius and the many neighbors who saw him working along the Napa road thought Mr. Raven with his Fageol tractor was certainly the right man in the right place. Mr. Hyde is highly pleased with the work and says that even with the bad season for working ground his land was never in better condition for holding moisture.
